Field 1: Red Zone Offense Ryan Greenspan & Marcello Mergott Scout: Rusty Glaze

Red Zone is a team oriented 1 on 1 drill that focuses on many of the skills it takes to win. It incorporates gun skills, teamwork, awareness, and heart. Red Zone is a 1 on 1, fast paced team style drill that's meant to test you physically and mentally. Here is how it works.

- We split the teams into two.
- The field will be marked off and the game will be funneled through the doritos.
- The goal is to get to the Red Zone which will be a chosen bunker (usually a dorito) on the opposing team's side of the field.
- How you get there does not matter. You just have to touch the Red Zone bunker and your team gets a point. That point will end and the next two players will be up to compete.
- If you get shot you must sprint back to your start station to tag a teammate in.

This means the player that shoots his opponent must keep his head on a swivel as he is racing for the Red Zone bunker because if he isn't aware, there is a good chance the opposing team will tag the next person in line into the game and shoot you mid run. You might play up to 3, 4, or even 5 different people while working your way down to the opposing Red Zone bunker.
